THE MOST IMPORTANT LESSON

Although I've been a doctor for more than 15 years and had many "life lessons" during my work in the hospital, one experience has particularly stuck in my mind. During my second month of medical school, our professor gave us a pop quiz. That wouldn't be a problem since I was always an eager learner. 4.1. _____ It said: "What is the first name of the woman who cleans the school?". I looked at the test again. Surely this was some kind of joke. I had seen the cleaning woman several times. 4.2. _____ Well, I didn't know the answer but still handed in my paper, leaving the last question blank. 4.3. _____ "Absolutely," said the professor. "In your careers, you will meet many people. All are significant. They deserve your attention and care, even if all you do is smile and say hello." I've never forgotten that lesson. I also learned her name was Dorothy.

- She was wearing an ID tag and I remembered her name was Dorothy.
- Just before the class ended, one student asked if the last question would count towards our quiz grade.
- This test, however, was a difficult one and I was afraid that I'd fail for the first time.
- She was tall, dark haired and in her 50's, but how would I know her name?
- I got the test, and had breezed through the questions, until I read the last one.
