NO NEED TO TAKE A SHOWER?

If you're too lazy to take a shower sometimes, don't worry. One American scientist, Mark Broggs, hasn't showered for about 9 years! And – what is really shocking – the people who work with him say that “he 1.1. _____ at all”! “No one has done research on people 1.2. _____ showers every day. So, we don't know whether daily showers are good for our health. That's why, about 9 years ago, I made a decision and just stopped taking showers.” Mark says. “Of course, water isn't dangerous for us, but the company 1.3. _____ I work is trying to invent something different from typical soap or shower gel that most people use. Such products can destroy our natural resistance to bacteria because they kill all of them and our skin becomes too sterile. 1.4. _____ a result, it is often itchy, dry and very sensitive.” The innovative products are entering 1.5. _____ next year. In the meantime, Mark intends to continue his experiment with not showering at all.
